

Italy: yields, quality and bio-fertilizers

Significantly increasing the yields of organic processing tomato crops while maintaining a constant Brix degree thanks to fertilizers based on solid digestates from biogas production plants: this is the challenge to the circular economy that has been taken up by the Unimore university (University of Modena and Reggio Emilia), with ongoing experimentation of two innovative organic and organo-mineral fertilizers on organic crop farms in the North of Italy.

LER MAIS

Spain: Juver bases future growth on "health" trend

Juver Alimentación, a subsidiary of Italian group Conserve Italia, based in Murcia, ended its 2017/2018 season with an increase in its turnover of close on 1.8%, at EUR 125.31 million, against EUR 123.13 million the previous year.

LER MAIS

