

Spain: Efficient biological control of Tuta absoluta

Tuta absoluta is a major pest in tomato crops in most parts of Europe, especially after it has become resistant to most insecticides. Biological control offers solutions, but the commercially available natural enemies are not always able to cope with the pest completely.

LER MAIS

Tomato products: held in relatively high esteem by consumers

For once, TomatoNews has decided to look at an issue that is non-quantifiable and very subjective, but which conditions the final purchase by consumers – the image of our processed products.

LER MAIS

