

Study: Growing food under solar panels with less water

“It is time to start thinking about light and solar radiation as resources that can be utilized in optimized food-energy co-generation systems”.

LER MAIS

Salicrop: Managing the impact of climate change

Salicrop, an Israeli company, offers a cutting-edge solution for improving plant resiliency and preventing significant losses in crop productivity in a rapidly changing climate.

LER MAIS

